PRINCETON AND YALE BATTLE FIERCELY, AND NEITHER SCORES

HEARST SOUGHT ALLIANCE WITH HIM, DECLARES CROKER

Sees a Judgment from Heaven in the Defeat of the Late Candidate Who, He Asserts, Got His Aid, Then Attacked Him.

(Copyright, 1906, by Publishers' Press.)

DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 17.—Richard Croker to-day gave out an interview in which he added a chapter to his quarrel with William R. Hearst, and paid his respects to his enemies in Tammany Hall. The old chief's talk was marked by intense earnestness.

After the interview was written he personally made corrections. It is therefore a sort of official proclamation, the last, Croker declares, that he will make.

In reply to the correspondent's first question as to what had caused Hearst's defeat in the recent election, Mr. Croker replied simply: "God Almighty."

Then he added: "His defeat is a judgment of Heaven owing to his scurrilous charges and his ungentlemanly conduct of the campaign, vilifying every one who did not hold his opinion. In all my experience I do not remember a campaign which sank to such billingsgate."

"I see Hearst referred to me as a corrupt politician. If he thinks so why did he visit me in 1903 at Weymouth and beg me to resume the leadership of Tammany Hall? Mr. Hearst implored me to re-enter politics, saying that Lewis Nixon was incompetent and that everybody wanted me to return. Hearst also confessed that he was ambitious to enter politics and said I could help him."

"Now Hearst is putting me in the position of being in the 'plunder band' with Belmont, Morgan, Carnegie, Root, Roosevelt, Ryan, Freedman and the Rev. Lindsay Parker. I am proud to be associated with these gentlemen, for they have done more for New York than I have. Hearst has accomplished in a few years what I have done in twenty."

"When I was in New York Hearst and I were close friends and I always liked him. Surely Hearst did not at that time think me corrupt. I do not know why he thinks so now. Hearst has greatly changed in the last few years. Now, apparently, he is controlled by the idea that he is greater than the Democratic party. He is ambitious to make the party his servant. He is a slave to passion and egotism. His creed is that everybody who is for him is an angel, while everybody who is against him is a demon."

"Because I think he is still a danger to Democracy I consider it my duty to speak. If Hearst had been elected Governor and had continued raising and vilifying every one with a bank account, I am convinced

DR. DIX DENOUNCES "TRIAL MARRIAGE"

Rector of Trinity to Speak Against Mrs. Herbert Parsons's Theory.

TRIAL marriage with divorce at will, as advocated by Mrs. Herbert Parsons in her new book, "The Family," has attracted the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, of Trinity Parish to take the subject as his theme to-morrow. He will preach against the doctrine, which he denounces as outrageous. The Rev. Madison C. Peters discussed Mrs. Parsons's ideas to-day, but he is more liberal in his interpretation.

"The theory," said Dr. Dix, "would have a disastrous effect on society. I am now preparing my sermon and I shall do everything in my power to counteract the bad effect which is bound to come from her remarks."

"The suggestion of trial marriage," said the Rev. Dr. Peters, "is not an innovation. I believe in one code of morals for both sexes, but I think that the attitude of the average man in placing a woman on a pedestal of virtue that he himself has probably fallen from, is a wholesome attitude, and his demanding more of her than he demands of himself, too, that the wife and mother should be above reproach in every possible sense."

Other well-known clergymen took issue with Mrs. Parsons. The wife of the Congressman thinks her theory would act as a safeguard against prolonged marital unhappiness.

DRESS AFIRE, GIRL RAN THROUGH FLAT

Lessie Jackson Struggled to Save Herself, but Burned to Death.

Just how Lessie Jackson's dress caught fire and how the girl struggled to save herself from awful death by the flames, the policeman who reported the case could not explain.

Lessie was seventeen years old, a slender slip of a girl. She lived with her uncle, Robert H. Jackson, on the second floor of No. 253 West Fortieth street. Lessie was kind. She had been frightened by some young toughs a few weeks ago and she was constantly in fear that they would repeat the offense. When her aunt went to the store just before noon Lessie asked her to lock the door.

"Lock it and take the key with you, Aunt Laura," she said.

A half hour later people living on the same floor heard piercing screams that issued from the Jackson apartments. Smoke began to issue from beneath the doors, and the cry of fire soon emptied the house.

Firemen answered the alarm. They broke down the door of the Jackson apartment and found the fire. The kitchen was a mass of flame, and in one of the bedrooms they found the bedclothes afire. They put the fire out with a little water, and on the kitchen floor they found a charred body. It was Lessie Jackson.

Her clothes had evidently caught fire from the stove, and in her terror she ran through the flat, setting fire to anything inflammable that came in her way. She was searching for water to extinguish the flames when she fell in the kitchen beside the sink.

RACE-TRACK, BENNINGS, D. C. Nov. 17.—The Grand Consolation Stakes, which is the richest of the fixtures at the Benning meeting, furnished a great surprise to-day. Tourneuse was a strong favorite in the betting, while Orphan Lad, the Baltimore crack, had a following that backed him down from 34 to 1 to 11 to 5.

Montfort, with Miller up, was neglected, going back to 8 to 1. Montfort was the best-looking horse going to the post. He went to the front soon after the start, made all the running and won easily by three lengths from Orphan Lad, who had to be hard driven to beat the favorite for the place.

Firebrand, a 6 to 1 chance, won the opening event easily from Anna Smith (2 to 1), Hooray (3 to 1) and Russell Sage (4 to 1).

The attendance was fair and weather cloudy, with frequent showers. There was little change in the order of betting affairs at Benning to-day except that the bookmakers retained their places and did not move about in the betting confusion which prevailed yesterday. In order that bettors might distinguish their bookmakers most of them wore some little article of adornment.

For instance, Johnny Cahill had a green feather stuck in his cap. Billy Blum wore a white carnation in the buttonhole of his coat. Tom Alexander wore a knot of green ribbon pinned to his coat, and others adopted similar distinguishing marks.

The card to-day was cheap and uninteresting, except for the Consolation Stakes, which had a fairly good class of two-year-olds engaged. The track was in fairly good shape, and the weather, though cloudy, was pleasant. The attendance was below the average.

"Lock it and take the key with you, Aunt Laura," she said.

INSURANCE MEN NOT GUILTY OF ANY CRIME, SAYS JEROME

Notifies Gov. Higgins that He Can Find Nothing in Armstrong Evidence on Which to Prosecute.

District Attorney Jerome to-day sent a 14,000-word letter to Gov. Higgins, saying that he had examined all the testimony taken before the Armstrong Committee and after examining the laws could find no law on which he could prosecute any of the insurance officials.

Mr. Jerome said he could find no evidence of crime under the laws and would therefore prosecute no one criminally except the officials of the Mutual Reserve, now under indictment for forgery and larceny.
